DIRECTORS GAIN NEW HOPES FOR LOCAL HOSPITAL

An entirely new approach towards their endeavor to receive state and federal subsidies for the construction of a hospital here is to be taken by the directors of the Washington Township Hospital District.

At a meeting of the directors held Wednesday evening at Washington Union High School, Judge E. A. Quaresma and Larue Sorenson were named to represent the local district at a meeting to be held in Paso Robles on February 21. This meeting has been called for the purpose of forming a new organization comprised of directors from the 40 hospital districts in California.

ASK NEW INTERPRETATION

"The directors of the 40 hospital districts of the state, particularly the directors from the 30 rural districts, have expressed their feelings that the Hospital Board of the Department of Health of the state is not properly interpreting the provisions outlined by the Hill-Burton Act and passed by Congress," L. S. Whitaker, president of the local board, said yesterday.

Whitaker pointed out that the Act states that the federal and state funds are to be made available to rural areas that could not otherwise afford the cost of constructing a hospital.

On a recent visit to Washington Township, Gordon R. Cummings, chief of the State Bureau of Hospital Surveys, and John Derry, assistant chief, told the directors that they considered Washington Township not a rural, but an urban area. They indicated that they could thus forsee no financial assistance for this area for several years to come.

The new organization will ask for what is termed a "more proper" interpretation of the law.

CHAMBER AID SOUGHT

The directors of the local district also voted Wednesday evening to request a joint meeting with the Washington Township Chamber of Commerce at which time the present hospital situation will be summarized and the support of the Chamber requested.

LIONS-ROTARIANS HEAR ASSEMBLYMAN

State Assemblyman Francis Dunn was the guest speaker at yesterday's joint meeting of the Niles Rotary Club and the Centerville Lions Club.

He outlined briefly the billion dollar state budget being drawn up for 1951-52.

In referring to the recent allocation of $250,000,000 in state aid for school building construction, Dunn stated that Newark, Decoto and Centerville elementary school districts have been granted state funds for their expansion. He expressed doubt, however, that Niles' request would be granted.

He revealed that more than $216,000,000 of the allocation had already been granted to schools throughout the state.

DEFENSE MEETING SET FOR MONDAY

Civil defense directors from each of the communities of Washington Township will meet Monday at 8 p.m. at the Justice Court in Centerville.

Township Director Gene Manning said yesterday that each director will be called upon to give a full report on each phase of the defense work program in the community.

In the meantime the doctors of the township met last night to complete their organization of emergency teams to serve this area in the event of a disaster.

"It would appear from progress reports submitted during the past three weeks that the defense organization in the majority of the communities is pretty well set up," Manninf said yesterday.

CENTERVILLE C. C. VOTES TO SPONSOR ZONING ORDINANCE

Sponsorship of a move to establish a zoning ordinance for Centerville was voted Monday by the Centerville Chamber of Commerce. The decision to sponsor the plan was voted following a report made by Gene Manning and L. S. Williams, members of the zoning committee of the Chamber.

The committeemen reported that if future action is to be taken, requesting the assistance of officials from the Alameda County Planning Commission, it appears necessary that the proposal would require the endorsement of some organization.

Williams and Manning were instructed by President Edgar Van Scoy to arrange for future public meetings between planning commission representatives and property owners.

The matter of a smoke menace from the road surfacing mixing plant near town was discussed but the Chamber expressed reluctance to consider the matter unless complaints are received from property owners near the plant.

The nominating committee, composed of Allan Walton, Joseph Shepherd and Manuel Lewis, announced that the slate of candidates for the annual election would be named at next week's meeting. They will also nominate delegates to the Washington Township Chamber of Commerce.

The secretary was instructed to write to the Alameda County Board of Supervisors requesting that street lights be installed at the intersection of Elm and Thornton Avenues and on Alder Avenue.

IRVINGTON ASKS FOR STREET WORK

Following a report at their meeting Tuesday that the street was badly in need of resurfacing the members of the Chamber instructed their secretary to write to Supervisor Chester E. Stanley asking that the necessary work be done.

It was also voted that the annual installation of officers would be held at a ladies night dinner, to be held the first week in March.

Vice-President Edward Haynes, who presided, named Carl Christensen, A. E. Alameda and Mitchell Romley to the committee to have charge of the arrangements.

SUPERVISOR RECOVERING

Alameda County Supervisor Chester E. Stanley, who was injured early Sunday morning in a highway crash near Livermore, is reported to be recuperating satisfactorily from his injuries. He was released from the hospital the following day.

NEWARK CHAMBER WILL INSTALL TUESDAY

Newly elected officers of the Newark Chamber of Commerce will be installed at a dinner meeting to be held Tuesday at 7 p.m. in the cafeteria of the Newark Elementary School. J. I. MacGregor, chairman, has announced that special entertainment will be provided.

NILES MAN ADMITS STAGING ROBBERY

Last Wednesday's burglary of the Columbia Grill in Niles was written off the police records as solved the following day when the owners refused to sign a complaint against the confessed burglar.

According to investigating officers, Robert Wagner of Niles, who was booked for investigation as a suspect, had admitted the burglary to the owners and returned the approximately $165 in currency. He told the officers that he had burned the stolen checks, amounting to about $175, in an incinerator.

In accordance with an agreement made by the owners with Wagner prior to his confession, they refrained from pressing charges, and he was released by the sheriff's department.

CREDIT BUREAU WILL CONDUCT CAMPAIGN

A campaign to acquaint all businessmen and residents of Washington Township with the purpose, operation and management of the Township Credit Bureau was mapped by the Board of Directors at their monthly luncheon meeting held Wednesday at the Newark Cafe.

Robert Kithcart of Centerville submitted his resignation as a director and C. C. Cristofani was appointed by President Jack Parry to fill the unexpired term.

The next meeting will be held on Wednesday, March 14, at Nello's Cafe in Niles.

ELEVEN TOWNSHIP YOUTHS REGISTER FOR DRAFT

Eleven Washington Township youths were registered by Ella Jolliff, registrar for the Selective Service Board, at Niles during the past month.

TOWNSHIP AREA BOOSTED AS SITE - FOR INDUSTRIES

Washington Township and its eight communities will receive nation-wide attention this month through a series of advertisements sponsored by the Metropolitan Oakland Area.

Half-page advertisements are scheduled to appear in the New York Times, Wall Street Journal, Business Week, Nation's Business and the U. S. News and World Report.

The advertisement is headlined with the statement: "MOA (Metropolitan Oakland Area) offers extra profits from lower distribution costs."

A small map insert spotlights Washington Township, described as—"A close-in rural area spotted with 8 thriving smaller towns, U. S. Pipe & Foundry Co. selected this area, served by 2 mainline railways, for its $2,500,000 plant now building on a 71-acre site."

Industrial concerns are informed by the advertisement that if they locate their plants in this ONE location that is central to the entire Pacific Coast, they are miles, days and dollars closer to major population centers.

RED CROSS BLOOD BANK HERE MONDAY; DONORS ARE NEEDED

The Red Cross mobile blood bank unit will pay its second visit to Washington Township on Monday and Mrs. W. L. McWhirter, chairman of the blood donor program here, expressed hope yesterday that the response would be as satisfactory as the turnout at the unit's last visit here.

"The dire need of blood can best be illustrated by the fact that the blood that is donated here is flown directly to the Korean front that same night," Mrs. McWhirter said.

The unit, which will be located at the Veterans Memorial Building in Niles, is capable of receiving blood donations from eight persons each 15 minutes.

The time allocation for appointments and the community chairmen who are signing up donors are as follows:

Mission San Jose, Mrs. Lois Botenberg, 12:45 p.m.

Irvington, Mrs. Walter Connolly, 10:30 and 11 a.m. and 2:30 p.m.

Decoto, Mrs. Bernie Joseph, 10:45 a.m. and 1 p.m.

Alvarado, W. Silva and Isabel Rigmaiden, 12:15 and 12:30 p.m.

Newark, Mrs. Cline Hayward, 9:45 a.m., 1:15 and 2:15 p.m.

Niles, Mrs. Lyle Buehler and Mrs. Elmer O'Connell, 11:15 a.m., 1:30, 1:45 and 3 p.m.

Centerville, Mrs. Ralph Goodwin, 10 and 10:15 a.m., 2 and 2:45 p.m.

Warm Springs, Miss Kato, 12:45 p.m.

"We have been informed that the unit will definitely visit the township the third Monday of each month," Mrs. McWhirter announced this week.

MEASLES CASES SHOW INCREASE HERE

Eight new cases of measles were reported in Washington Township during the past week, according to Dr. James C. Malcolm, county health officer.

The new cases brings the total for the year to 56.

One case of German measles and one case of mumps also were reported during the week.

MYSTERY PICTURE . . . It's in Washington Township and it's the only one exactly like it. If you think you know what it is and where it is located, telephone The Register, Niles 3261 or 3271, after 9 a.m. If you are first or twentieth to telephone and give the correct answers you will receive a cash award of $2.50. Remember—no calls will be accepted until exactly 9 a.m. —Register Photo

Register's Picture Contest Gets State Newspaper Award

The Township Register's popular "Guess Where" Contest won a contest of its own last week-end!

The series of picture puzzles which The Register has printed on its front page every week for the past five months was declared by the California Newspaper Publishers Association to be one of the three best weekly newspaper promotion ideas in the state.

The award was presented to Publisher L. R. Batman at the annual convention of publishers held in Sacramento last week-end.

The other two newspapers receiving awards on the promotion contest were the Newport-Balboa Press and the Beverly Hills Citizen.

The Register was the only weekly newspaper in the bay area to receive any award in the 1950 contest, marking the first time that a Washington Township newspaper has ever received statewide acclaim.

CONTEST EXTENDED

The "Guess Where" Contest, designed to stimulate reader interest and better acquaint local residents with landmarks of this area, was originally planned to be but a two-month series of "mystery" pictures. However, by popular demand of its readers, The Register has extended the series indefinitely.

The week that the first "mystery" picture was published the rules failed to mention any opening time that telephone calls would be received from the contestants wishing to attempt to identify the picture.

When the publisher received three calls at his home prior to 7 a.m. from contestants, it was deemed advisable to establish an opening hour of 9 a.m.

MORE PROBLEMS

Another problem arose a few weeks later when a cagey contestant telephoned at five minutes until nine and attempted to hold the line until opening time. This was immediately corrected by disconnecting both telephones until 9 a.m.

As a result of the contest many local residents are better acquainted with the landmarks that surround them, and such remarks as "I've seen it a million times, but I can't think where . . . You've got me this time . . . and . . . I know what would make a good mystery picture" have become commonplace in Washington Township.

WARM SPRINGS ASKS ZONING RULING

Tightening of land use controls by the county or an over-all zoning ordinance for Washington Township is being advocated by the Warm Springs Chamber of Commerce.

At their meeting last Thursday evening the Chamber members voted to contact the district attorney's office for an appointment concerning the hog ranch which has begun operations near Warm Springs.

"It is our understanding that a permit for this establishment was denied and that its operation is in violation of the present blanket zoning ordinance," Bruce Michael, president, said.

Other letters were ordered sent to the Alameda County Planning Commission asking for an interpretation of the zoning ordinance and requesting amendments to the ordinance if it does not at present regulate the location of hog ranches. Copies of the letters were ordered sent to the Alameda County Board of Supervisors.

SCHOOL ATTENDANCE SHOWS NO DECLINE

Despite the fact that several schools in the east bay area are temporarily closed because of an influenza epidemic no marked increase in absenteeism has been noted at Washington Union High School.

Miss Dorothy Enos, who maintains the attendance records at the local high school, said yesterday that no increase over the usual 40 to 50 daily absence has occurred here in the past two weeks.

M. CALDEIRA AND RICHMOND WIN IN REGISTER CONTEST

Last week's picture of the entrance to the old Navarro Theater in Alvarado, now the Eagles' Hall, proved to be one of the most difficult in the series of picture puzzles presented by The Register in its "Guess Where" Contest.

Only 37 persons felt sure enough of their guesses as to the identity and location of the subject of the picture to telephone The Register and become contestants. Of that number six failed to correctly identify the picture.

First to call and give the correct answers, following the 9 a.m. opening hour of the contest, was Manuel Caldeira of Niles.

Second prize went to Ed Richmond of Centerville who was the twentieth person to call and give the correct answers. Two Newark housewives had opportunities to win the second award by being the twentieth to give the correct answers but each made wrong guesses.

NO EARLY CALLS

Contestants are reminded that no incoming calls will be accepted at the Register office prior to the 9 a.m. opening hour of the contest. In order to give contestants from throughout the township an equal opportunity to be the first to call the two telephones are disconnected until exactly 9 a.m. A time check is made early Friday morning with the telephone operator to discount any discrepancy in clocks.

This week's picture puzzle appears at the bottom of Page 1. When you think you know what it is and where it is located in Washington Township, telephone The Register, Niles 3261 or 3271, after 9 a.m. If you are the first or twentieth to telephone and give the correct answers, you will receive a check for $2.50.

CONTESTANTS LISTED

Contestants who correctly identified last week's picture, in the order that their calls were received, were: Manuel Caldeira, Niles; Laura Estudillo, Niles; Lee Fowles, Niles; Ed Silva, Niles; E. D. Bristow, Niles; Al Perez, Niles; Warren J. Silva, Alvarado; Carmen Paz, Niles; Alice Meneze, Alvarado; Manuel Hidalgo, Decoto; Jack Moser, Niles.

HOSPITAL AID FOR LOCAL CHILDREN

Ten township children have had hospital care, and 116 children have received out-patient treatment from Children's Hospital during the year 1950, according to an announcement at the last meeting of Toyon Branch of the hospital. This announcement was made by Mrs. Dora Mae Scudder, chairman of the local branch.

"Many people have asked us if the children from Washington Township benefit from Children's Hospital," she said, "and we are glad to be able to report the figures above, indicating that our local children have been benefitted immensely by Children's Hospital."

Mrs. Scudder emphasized the importance of the benefit projects sponsored by Toyon throughout the year. "Local patrons of our affairs during the year can be assured that their contributions are distributed equably, permitting the children of this area to benefit from the services of Children's Hospital."

The meeting at which the announcement was made was held at the home of Mrs. E. E. Huddleson of Mission San Jose, with Mrs. Tom Witherly as co-hostess.

Here's to Your Health

By DR. JAMES C. MALCOLM
Health Officer, Alameda County Health Department

Have you checked the electrical outlets and extension cords in your home recently? How about that place in the carpet that you have meant to tack down? Or those bottles in the medicine cupboard, are they out of reach of young children?

Home accidents account for more than one-third of the total accidents in the country. Most of the accidents happen to the very young or to the very old. Home accidents are the most common cause of death of children from one to five years of age. Most accidents in the home can be prevented by carefully supervising your children, and by teaching them the fundamentals of safety.

Your kitchen is the most dangerous room in your home, especially for youngsters. They can pull hot pans off the stove if handles are within their reach. They can get into insecticides, amonia, or other poisons kept in low cupboards or under the kitchen sink. Spilled grease or water may lead to a fall.

The bathroom is another accident source. A switch or electrical appliance touched with wet hands may cause shock, so it is better to keep the appliances out of the bathroom entirely. Another good rule is never to leave small children in the bath room alone.

I am sure you can enlarge on this list of home accident hazards. They are common every day items in your home. Why not make a check list for your home and go over it regularly? Keep preventable home accidents from harming your children.

Say you saw it In The Register.

VIENNA CHOIR BOYS SINGING TONIGHT

The Vienna Choir Boys sing in the civic auditorium, San Jose, tonight (Friday), giving a program of sacred and secular songs, and a comic operetta in costume.

The San Francisco Symphony Orchestra, Pierre Monteux conducting, will appear in San Jose one week later, on February 23, in an extraordinarily fine program. Soloists will be the Roman Sisters, Josette and Yvette, lately come from Paris, who will be heard in the Concerto for two pianos and orchestra, Mozart. The Brahms Fourth Symphony will be the major work, while Overture to "Euryanthe," Van Weber, and Stravisnky's "Firebird" will complete the program.

"The Barber of Seville" will be given on March 1 by the Charles Wagner Opera Company of New York, with an all-star cast, male chorus and complete orchestra. Desire Defrere, who for 17 years has staged the Metropolitan Opera productions, has staged "The Barber," and Paul Breisach, for seven years the leading conductor of the San Francisco Opera, will conduct.

Tickets for all events are on sale at the Denny-Watrous box office, San Jose auditorium.

HERE FROM OKLAHOMA

Mrs. Rachael Hill and family enjoyed a two-day visit from her sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. L. V. McCorkle, who live in Mountain Park, Oklahoma. They had been touring the northwest and southern California and made this their last stop on the way home.

WHIST PARTY

The boys and girls of the eighth grade class of the Mission Elementary School are holding their whist party on Monday evening, Feb. 19, proceeds of which are to go for all their activities for the rest of the year. Admission is 50 cents and it will be held in the school auditorium. The public is invited to attend.

IN TRACY

Mrs. Rose Souza of Ellsworth Street is spending a few weeks at the home of her son, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Souza at Tracy.

ON SICK LIST

We have a number of sick folks on our list this week. Little Gary Lowe, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lowe, is confined to his home with a case of the mumps. Little Linda Phillips, daughter of Manuel and Margaret Phillips, has been very ill for over a week with a virus infection and near pneumonia. Mrs. Dolores Andrade and baby daughter, Carolee, were both very ill for several days but are out of bed at last, also affected by the flu bug. And then to top it all, Eugene Romero, eldest son of the Senior Romeros, has been a very sick lad with what looks like poison oak.

NEW OFFICERS

The Mission Firemen's Auxiliary met for a special meeting on February 9 at the club house to elect new officers for the coming year and to reveal their secret pals. Fourteen were present. Mrs. Lois Bottenberg was reelected to the presidency, Betty Andrade became vice-president, Beverly Medeiros elected treasurer, and Kathleen Amaral retained as secretary. Lena Solon takes the sergeant at arms job this year and Irma Vargas remained as our "Sunshine Girl." Following the short businesses session, the meeting was adjourned and the best part of the program of "Pal Revealing" was under way. Everyone had a very nice time and new pals were picked for the coming year. A lovely cake and coffee were served by the committee. Next meeting will be held on March 23 at the club room.

FIREMEN'S OFFICERS

The Mission Firemen held their election of officers on Tuesday evening and the following officers for 1951 were elected: Herman Medeiros, president; Joe Souza, vice-president; Frank Vargas, retained as secretary. Tom Cunha, asistant secretary, Tony Perreira also retained as treasurer. Tony Souza will act as sergeant at arms.

MORE CONSTRUCTION

Miss Hyde is having her little summer home here all painted and fixed for the summer. Her new place next to McIvor's Hardware, is very nearly finished and she also purchased the old Roscoe Kessler place near the Mission Cash Grocery and had the old house torn down in preparation for another building in the distant future.

AT CROSS HOME

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Cross and family of Durham Road entertained a number of relatives on Sunday. Mrs. Mamie Callahan, mother of Mrs. Cross, Mrs. Elsie Wilcox, mother of Mr. Cross, and Mr. and Mrs. James Norris of San Francisco, niece and nephew of the Crosses, and their daughter, Beverly, and son Jimmie Jr., spent a very enjoyable day with a lovely dinner prepared by Edna and daughters.

GIRL SCOUTING

NEWARK BROWNIES

Newark Brownie Troop 113 entertained their mothers at a Valentine party held in the Newark Youth Center Saturday evening.

Each mother was presented with a heart-shaped pin cushion, the surprise gift made by the Brownies during the past weeks.

The table was beautifully decorated and held a very attractive centerpiece made by the troop leader, Mrs. J. C. Kennedy.

Nearly forty mothers and daughters attended the party and thoroughly enjoyed the cake and coffee or chocolate.

The affair was arranged and carried out by leader Mrs. J. C. Kennedy, and assistant leaders Mrs. L. M. Potts and Mrs. Ruth Latham.

Girl Scout Troop 94 of Niles, working on the "My Community and Bibliophie" badge, enjoyed a trip to the Niles library on January 30. The members did many chores for Mrs. Koel, who helped them with the Bibliophie badge. The girls present were: Helen McElvain, Maryann Duarte, Diane Roeding, Barbara Frick, Doris Pine, and Barbara Gale, and the leader, Mrs. George Roeding Jr. The Girl Scouts wish to thank Mrs. Koel for helping them.

The Scouts were given a Valentine party by Mrs. Roeding at her home on the California Nursery grounds. A play, "The School Bell Fever," was presented, followed by a table tennis tournament. The winner was Marilyn Lorenson. The prize was a Girl Scout sewing kit.

Thinking Things Over . . .

By VIVIAN BATMAN

Can we boast a little this week? Winning third place in competition with all the many weekly papers in California, in newspaper promotion, at the annual California Newspaper Publishers Convention in Sacramento last week, is something of which we are not a little proud.

Even the readers can boast a little now about their home-town weekly!

Both the first and second winners in this competition were much larger papers than The Register. They were in Southern California, and in areas not nearly so rural.

JONES OR SMITH

In private life Betty Smith, whose "A Tree Grows in Brooklyn" is now being fashioned into a musical play, is the wife of Joseph Piper Jones. Whenever they fare forth from their home in Chapel Hill, she relates, they have a system for signing hotel registers. If the trip is in connection with her literary endeavors, they use her name. If it's a pleasure jaunt, they use his. One night the issue was not quite clear. Her husband poised his pen over the register and asked, "What name shall we use tonight, dear—Smith or Jones?" The room clerk hastily assured them every room was taken. . . .

Before you get the idea that I, personally, interviewed Miss Smith or MRS. JONES, let me explain that I "lifted" this little anecdote from the Saturday Review of Literature.

GREETINGS

These thoughtful people who keep lists of the dates of their friends' birthdays and anniversaries are to be commended. Undoubtedly they make many people happy by surprising them with birthday cards and such. "Imagine Suzie remembering my birthday! Why, however did she know."

But there is one thing these kind, thoughtful people should remember. They should get the dates right! Imagine my surprise one day this week when I received a wedding anniversary card. It was inscribed with a delightful sentiment, and was truly a beautiful card. I was quite overwhelmed, and was suddenly furious at my husband for not remembering that it was our anniversary. But just as suddenly my fury left me, for I realized that it WASN'T our anniversary. Our anniversary doesn't come until July!

Of course, there may be another angle to this story. Personally, I'm a softie when it comes to buying greeting cards. (Ask old Mr. Barker if I'm not.) There may be other people like me, who have so many greeting cards cluttering up the place that, in desperation, they start sending them out hit and miss. Actually, I should be glad, I suppose, that I didn't receive a card with "Get Well Wishes" such as I have here. It says:

It surely would be nice to hear
You're gaining every day
So here's a wish for what it takes
To help you get that way.

Now that truly would have hurt my feelings. Me! who is even now starting out for the fourth time on that eleven-day diet!

Trade at Home!

WASHINGTON TOWNSHIP IS YOUR SHOPPING CENTER

WHEN YOUR DOLLAR IS RUNG UP ON THE CASH REGISTER OF A LOCAL MERCHANT, IT STARTS ROLLING BACK INTO THE TRADE CHANNELS OF LOCAL ENTERPRISE

You spend a dollar with a merchant and that merchant has to pay about 20 cents of it for his clerk, managers, etc. He spends about 70 cents replacing the merchandise you bought and a nickle on rent, utilities and upkeep. That leaves him with a nickle. A nickle out of every dollar he takes in is his, and—you guessed it—he turns around and spends that in a local store for groceries, clothes, etc.

That's just the cycle that explains why we have a WASHINGTON TOWNSHIP. The more of those dollars you spend here the bigger and better the township becomes.

The first group of apartments built on a court plan was completed on Main Street in Centerville by P. Pebelier of that city.

At a costume "Hard Times" party held at the I.D.E.S. Hall in Mission San Jose, Miss Eva Rogers and Frank Dias won first prizes.

A surprise shower was given in Alvarado for Miss Genevieve DaVilla by her sister, Mrs. Antone Santos.

Rehearsals started for the high school's operetta, "Pickles, or In Old Vienna," with Elsie Silva and Clarence Soito of Centerville in the lead roles.

New Residents in Ellsworth Orchard

Major George B. Baittinger and Mrs. Baittinger moved into their new home on Goodrich Way in the Ellsworth Orchard this week. Retired from the Army and seeking a restful spot—"with plenty of space around," he said—the major and his wife think Niles is an ideal setting. They formerly lived in Oakmont Heights in Oakland. "But it was getting too crowded," he stated.

Housewarming for Former Niles Residents

Mr. and Mrs. George Duffey, former Niles residents, were given a housewarming for their new home in Hayward, by their township friends. A potluck supper was the order of the evening, and the Duffeys were given a handsome brass plaque to go over their fireplace. Those present included Mr. and Mrs. Harold Houghton, Mr. and Mrs. G. D. Maphet, Mrs. Dovey Bates (of Oregon), Mr. and Mrs. Dan Marble, Mrs. Anna Bradford, Mr. and Mrs. Al Cadero, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Blake, Mrs. Elizabeth Mendenhall, and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Millett (of Hayward).

Annual Duck Dinner

An annual duck dinner—strictly a stag affair—was held at the home of S. A. D. Buchanan of Alvarado last Saturday night. Mr. Buchanan was the chef, as well as the host. The ducks were furnished by Leonard Dondero and Monk Souza. Others present were Bill Dutra of Newark, Gerald Christiansen of Fresno, Bill Maffey of Oakland, Roy Towers of Hayward, and Frank McGuigan of Oakland.

After the dinner, the men enjoyed an evening of poker, and declared the party was as big a success as it has been in past years, for everyone, according to one of those present, was just as "jober as a sudge."

Localites Attend Anniversary Fete

Township relatives of Mr. and Mrs. Morgan Griffiths of Stockton attended an impressive 50th wedding anniversary celebration of the couple in Stockton last Sunday.

Those from here attending were Mrs. Griffiths sister, Mrs. Fulton Cesari of Niles, and the following nieces and nephews and their families: David Cesari of Niles, Harry Cesari of Centerville, Morgan Cesari of Irvington, Guido Cesari of Suisun, Fulton Cesari Jr. of San Bruno, Mrs. Lillian O'Connor of Niles and Estella Cunha of Oakland. Accompanying the group from here was Mrs. Romeo Brunelli of Niles.

The festivities began with the couple renewing their marriage vows at the 8 a.m. mass, followed by a breakfast for the immediate family at their home. A reception, attended by more than 400 relatives and friends, was held during the afternoon at the Knights of Pythias Hall.

Thrilling Week-End

A whole week-end of fun is ahead for the John Berchems of Niles. On Friday Mrs. Berchem and Mrs. Tom Robbins will attend the tea and fashion show at the Rose Room of the Palace Hotel, being given for those attending the Western Meat Packers Association convention in San Francisco.

On Saturday, the Berchems and Helen Vieux and Jack Parry will attend the dinner and ball of the association. The Berchems will remain overnight at the Palace and next night will see "Kiss Me Kate."

In Los Angeles

Mr. and Mrs. Dan Marble of Niles, and Mrs. Dovie Bates, former Niles resident now living in Salem, Oregon, spent a week in Los Angeles and vicinity, seeing the sights. They had their usual good time.

Evening of Bridge

Guests of the Kenneth Bergs last Saturday night for an evening of bridge were the Robert Holts of Irvington, the John Schulls of Irvington, and the Merle Whitcrafts of Newark.

Back to Post Office

Local Couples On Snow Trip

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Freitas of Irvington and Mr. and Mrs. John S. Oliveira of Newark spent a delightful week-end in the Lake Tahoe area. Saturday evening was spent dining at the Cal-Neva Lodge. After dinner, a program was presented featuring many Hollywood celebrities, climaxed by the judging of the candidates for the honor of Sno Queen and the big Sno Ball.

Sunday was spent tobogganing near Squaw Valley.

On the trip home, over the Donner Pass, it was snowing so much that many were stranded without chains, tying up traffic for an hour and a half. The scenery of the trees and mountains covered with snow was enjoyed immensely by the localites.

Royal Welcome

Not only her parents welcomed little Jennifer Ann Moser into the world Thursday morning, but also her two sets of grandparents and three great-grandparents! Not even a princess ever had such a royal welcome.

She was born at Hayward Hospital, weighed 7 pounds and 4 ounces, and is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Moser. Her mother is the former Joy Silveira.

The happy grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Roy Moser of Niles, and Mr. and Mrs. Ted Silveira of Warm Springs. Mrs. Mary Furtado of Centerville is her great-grandmother, and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Silveira are also great-grandparents.

Visitors from Hawaii

A frequent visitor at the Lyle Buehler home in Niles for the next two or three months will be Mrs. James Youd, and her two children, of Honolulu. Mrs. Youd will be on the mainland while her husband, a consulting engineer for the Hawaiian Pineapple Company, is on a business trip to Mexico. Mrs. Youd and Mrs. Buehler are sisters.

Supper and Canasta

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Robbins of Niles will entertain the following guests at a supper and canasta party this Sunday evening: Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Marks, Mr. and Mrs. Manuel Fontes, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Enos, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Johnson, and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Mackintosh.

Back to Arkansas

Minnesota Visitors

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Adolphson of Springfield, Minnesota, started for home last Monday after spending a very enjoyable week with Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Kaehler of Newark. While vacationing here they were taken for as many tours of the sights as the short time would allow and were guests at a party given in their honor by the Kaehlers at the Officers Club, Alameda. It was attended by Mr. and Mrs. Lester Mann of Niles and Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Brown of Centerville.

Mrs. Leslie Adolphson, sister of Mrs. Vincent Kaehler, is returning to her job as society editor of her local paper and it is hoped that her visit to our community will find its way into her column.

NEWARK WOMAN WED TO AVIATOR AT CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH CEREMONY

An altar, beautifully decorated with white callas, formed the background last Saturday evening at the Niles Congregational Church for the vow-exchange of Eldora "Scotty" Houston and William Charnley. The church decor was done by Mrs. LeRoy Broun and Mrs. William Dutra.

The Rev. Paul Focht read the simple service which was performed before only close friends and members of the families of the pair. Douglas Mayock was the soloist.

For her wedding the bride chose a light blue suit, and wore with it a pink veiled hat. She wore a lei of 300 hearts of orchids, flown back to the mainland from Hawaii by her bridegroom, an aviation navigator.

The matron of honor, Mrs. Fern Rueb of Hayward, was in a beige suit and wore a lei of pink carnations, also flown from the Islands.

Mrs. Fenton Sears of Newark, the bride's mother, also had flowers from Hawaii, a beautiful orchid corsage.

Mrs. Broun was at the organ playing the wedding music for the ceremony.

The best man was Wayne Lappi of Oakland.

After the wedding, about 50 guests gathered at the Sears home in Newark for the reception. The home was decorated in artistic arrangements of calla lillies, lillies-of-the-valley and daffodils done by Harry Houston. The wedding cake was the centerpiece for the table, and other refreshments included champagne punch.

DECOTO GROUP DISCUSSES 'PRINCE OF EGYPT' AT MISSION SAN JOSE MEETING

By ETHEL AVILLA

Dorothy Clark Wilson's "Prince of Egypt" was used by Mrs. L. W. Musick for her meeting last Wednesday when members of the Decoto Discussion Group met at the home of Mrs. Manuel Fontes in Mission San Jose.

Chosen for its characterization of Moses, the novel depicts the pomp and splendor of the Egyptian court where Moses grew up and contrasts it with the abject poverty and abuse of the slaves—mostly Hebrew—whom he later joins and leads out of bondage across the Sea of Reeds.

The author's main objective seemed to be her portrayal of the personality of Moses and that, according to the various opinions expressed, summed up the beauty of the book.

A delicious luncheon was served by the hostess prior to the discussion period. Mrs. Maurice Marks was a guest.

Mrs. Dorothy F. Roberts, Alameda County Librarian, will be hostess to the group on March 7. "The Plymouth Adventure" by Ernest Gebler, will be discussed at that time.

Traveling Not for Oldsters, Say Nilesites

"Don't wait until you get old to take trips," was the advice that Mrs. Clarence Crane of Niles offered this week after returning with her husband from an excursion to the Mardi Gras at New Orleans. Mrs. Crane recounted some of the unfortunate episodes that occurred on the tour to prove her point that the time to travel is NOW. "It was the old people on the tour," she said, "that couldn't take it. One old woman got pneumonia, and had to be removed from the train to a hospital, and an old man couldn't take it and had to leave the party." The changes in climate, the excitement of traveling, and the rich food are the undoing of old people, according to Mrs. Crane. Both she and her husband, far from being old, thought the trip was wonderful and enjoyed every minute of it. Mrs. Marion Zwissig accompanied them. On the way home they stopped off at the Grand Canyon and Carlsbad Caverns.

A buffet luncheon in celebration of their 50th wedding anniversary was held Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Feleciano on Palm Avenue, Mission San Jose.

The couple was presented with many lovely gifts, one of which was a beautifully gilded miniature tree to which were tied 50 silver dollars encased in gold foil.

Attend Celebration

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Foster of Newark were in Auburn last week-end to say "hello" to the George Coefields, former residents here, who now have a ranch there.

JOSEPHINE

"Come with me in my flying machine," so sings Rose and Joe Seoane who together got an old model car going enough to take them here and there. Of course they have a new model car but their old "Josephine" can be the standby. They hope.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY

Mrs. Arribas of 615 Fourth St. was honored at a birthday celebration Sunday evening when several of her friends and her family came in to wish her cheer and wishes for a happy day. Present were Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Garcia of Decoto, Mr. and Mrs. David Priego of San Leandro, Mr. and Mrs. Primitvo Cordaba of Oakland, Mr. and Mrs. Alonzo Ortega of Decoto, Mr. and Mrs. Martin of Decoto, Mr. and Mrs. D. Dias of Alvarado, Gloria Arribas, Florentina Montes, Mr. and Mrs. David Arribas of Ashland, and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Gonzales and their children, and Mrs. Gonzales' mother from Hayward. The guests were served birthday cake and coffee and later enjoyed very interesting movies taken by the Gonzales from Hayward. The films included points of interest in Argentina, Peru, Chili and Brazil. Also they saw films taken in Nevada. Mrs. Arribas was very much surprised when the film of Argentina was shown to see a familiar face among some of the people there. Upon closer observation she discovered it was none other than her sister. There couldn't have been a better birthday gift, could there?

CANASTA PARTY

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Johnson entertained at their home Sunday evening for a group of friends who enjoyed moving pictures and canasta. Present were Mr. and Mrs. Ed Mara, Mr. and Mrs. Bernie Joseph, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Overacker, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Avilla and Mr. and Mrs. Manuel Fontes.

NEW CAR

Dr. Morgan Lee is now sporting a new car. No chance of any breakdowns in case of emergencies now. Good luck and smooth riding, Dr. Lee.

DOUBLE DOSE

Gail Seoane wants to be unusual and so she recently was confined with both the measles and the smallpox. She feels much better now but is she glad that is over with!

IN VALLEJO

Diane Caminada returned home this week after spending a few days with her aunt and uncle Bounassissi in Vallejo. She was a bit homesick but has already talked of returning for another few days vacation.

TOUGH LUCK

Four young fellows were very disappointed last week-end when they motored to Strawberry Lake looking forward to some winter sports but after traveling here and there to the resorts they returned home without their bit of fun. Try, try again, boys.

DON'T FORGET

February 19. Well, what does that date signify? It's the day to contact your committee member for an appointment for the donation of your blood. Remember it takes but such a short time for giving a long life to some person we might even know very well.

HITS JACKPOT

Mrs. Frank Azevedo, chairman for the Holy Rosary whist party not too long ago, was short just a little to make the benefits of that party a huge success of $600. Not content to let it go at that, she was determined to find some way to meet the goal. And so she did. Last Sunday she gave a delicious ham dinner, charging a small fee (and from the rumors plates were piled high, not mentioning seconds) and she went and hit the jackpot and then some. What do we do with that woman? I give her my congratulations and certainly wish a few more of us had her spirit.

TO FORT ORD

Jerry Brown, Phyllis Struckman of Hayward and Mrs. Lester Watkins motored to Fort Ord Saturday to pick up Private Rex Rowlett who spent the week-end at home. On Sunday they took Rex back to camp and returned home.

PINOCHLE CLUB

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Watkins carried out the Valentine motif in their decorations last Saturday evening when they entertained the Pinochle Club at their home. The guests were served orange "kiss me" cake, jello and coffee. Frank Azevedo won high, Lester Watkins second, and Mr. Jim Parks low. Twenty hands were played. Present were Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Costa, Mrs. Florence Wallace, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Azevedo, Mr. and Mrs. Don Morgan of San Lorenzo and Mr. Jim Parks.

SKATING PARTY

Mrs. Marty Dalby, scout leader of Troop 79, with her assistants, Mrs. Elmer Peixotto and Mrs. Alfred Ferreira and the girl scouts of that troop, attended a skating party at the Garden of Allah at Niles last Friday evening. The girls who went were: Sandra Peixotto, Jackie O'Malia, Thelma Elizarrey, Helen Carvalho, Bobbie Fletcher, Loretta Ferreira, Ramona Perez, Rachael Zamora, Gloria Pagan, Gloria Jean Santiago, and Elaine Boliva. The girls are now learning how to do Dresden painting, their first project.

AT ASSOCIATION

Dr. Morgan Lee attended the program of the California Osteopathic Association last Sunday, Feb. 11, at the Leamington Hotel in Oakland. It was arranged in cooperation with the California Department of Public Health. The program was from 9 a.m. until 4:30 p.m.

GUILD MEETS

Our Lady of the Holy Rosary Guild was called to order by Vice-President Mrs. Frank Scorpiniti last Tuesday evening at the firehouse. The recitation of prayers was said and then Secretary Mrs. S. Re read the minutes which were approved as read. The financial report was read and also approved. Mary Janeiro read the by-laws which she, Mary Re and Mary Cordoza had written and asked if any questions or corrections should be made. Since there weren't any, the by-laws stood as read. Mrs. Frank Azevedo made a report on the whist party and announced a luncheon for some of the members and the whist party committee would be held on March 6 at her home. Mrs. John Luna was made chairman for the food basket to be given away on Palm Sunday, March 18. She named her committee as follows: Mrs. L. King, Mrs. Frances Avilla, and Mrs. Tony Bettencourt. The basket will be awarded at the Holy Rosary Church on the specified day after the 8:30 mass. Father Duggan read the report of progress on the new building. He stated that the land will soon be leveled off and construction with the funds to buy materials will begin soon, until the present funds are exhausted. The present church will still be used and the new building will be a social hall and an athletic building. Suggestion for a drive for more funds from the community people was mentioned and will be more fully discussed at the next meeting. Katie Luna won the prize on the Dime Drive. The meeting was then adjourned and the members enjoyed delicious cake and coffee. The next meeting will be held on March 13.

HOME FROM HOSPITAL

Mrs. J. J. Caldeira returned home from O'Connor's Hospital on Wednesday after her operation. Glad to hear that you're doing so nicely, Stella.

AT FOUNDERS' DAY

Mrs. Elmer Peixotto and Mrs. Elvie Cordoza attended the Founders' Day program in Pleasanton on Thursday, Feb. 15.

HATS OFF!

I don't get to put too much news about our Masonic Home in this column of mine but here's one of the times I must mention their very good cause to help this town in reaching their goal. A March of Dimes wishing well was distributed to them, as they were to the many other business houses, schools, etc., and they collected quite a sum in their wishing well, but not content with that, they put forth a plan to collect even more. On the night of the Mothers' March, January 30, the residents and employees put on their own march of dimes drive. They collected $72 in silver coins in addition to the large amount already in the wishing well. My hat's off to you fine people at the home and here's hoping we get to hear more about you in the future.

THROUGH ALL THE DAYS

Brotherhood Week, February 18-25, sponsored by the National Conference of Christians and Jews.

At Anzio and Okinawa, and Inchon and Taegon—no man asked of his comrade on his right or on his left: "Are you Catholic or Baptist; Jew or Episcopalian?" No man asked aught. All had faith—and understanding.

A wounded comrade cried for help from the battle zone. Those two, or half dozen, who bravely crawled through enemy fire to rescue him never paused to question his religion, his color or his race.

In Korea, too, as in the battle zones of that last World War, fighting men paused in the rear lines to listen to the "Mammy" singing of a man now dead Al Jolson. Nobody called Al Jolson a Jew though his father had been a cantor in the synagogue. They called him great—a great American.

Yet back home there are those who divide themselves from others who are as loyal to democratic ideals, as faithful to American dreams. They mentally point a scornful finger to say: "They are not like us; they are Jews" —or Methodists or Catholics.

That is where brotherhood must begin—in the minds of men and women. Superficial surface fraternizing is meaningless. It serves no lasting purpose to gather once a year with arms entwined and to dwell vocally upon the virtues of brotherhood—if what is said and done then ends there.

The true spirit of Brotherhood Week is based on understanding. It must be deep in the heart and in the mind, functioning not just today or in Brotherhood Week but through all the days and weeks—functioning for American in the American pattern of tolerance and understanding.

Save Your Jobless Pay!

BY ROSS GRAHAM

If the honestly unemployed in California are to continue to have an unemployment insurance reserve fund from which to draw benefits, some reform must be made at once in the unemployment insurance contribution system.

At the present rate, the sole contributors are the employers, and they are not able to contribute enough to keep the fund solvent.

Even though every employer in California, regardless of the merit rating he may enjoy because of steady employment for his workers, now pays a premium of 1 per cent of his payroll, the fund will diminish by about $23,000,000 this last year—1050, a year of high employment.

Employer contributions in each of the last five years, except in 1947, have not been equal to the amount paid out in benefits. There was an $118,000,000 deficit in 1949.

THREE OUTLETS

This situation can be met in either of three ways:

The tax on employers can be raised above 2.7 per cent.

Employees, who now pay nothing for unemployment insurance, can again be taxed on their pay checks, in addition to the 1 per cent the employees now pay for disability, or sickness, insurance.

The state can stop paying unemployment insurance.

If the unemployment insurance reserve shrinks enough, the present law permits the Commission to stop payments.

The definition of suitable employment needs to be re-defined.

If there is no unemployment insurance program, with its weekly guarantee, workers would not be so finicky about the jobs they are willing to accept. Part of the racket in refusing to take jobs the worker can perform is based on highly technical and trifling objections that the job "is not in his or her line."

Too many people believe that the nation, state or city owe them a living!

They should be educated to know that unemployment insurance is not a "bonus" for having done some work and it is not "something they have paid for and are entitled to." It is designed to be "insurance."

An individual should be entitled to only ONE claim during one period of unemployment.

This would end the "lag-quarter" racket.

STOP 'LOAFERS' PAY

The steady worker who holds a job for years, is paying the freight for the loafers. Should the steady worker finally get out of a job, he can file only his earnings in four of the last five or six quarter-years, depending on the date the claim is filed. All of his earnings for the prior years are gone forever, so far as giving him a right to unemployment insurance is concerned.

Some employers are equally guilty of raiding the fund. These mostly are the ones who provide part-time employment and conspire with their employees to handle wage payments so that the employees can get unemployment insurance benefits to which they are not entitled.

Other employers, through carelessness, do not follow up claims by their former employees, thus permitting the perpetration of rackets.

Correcting the faults of the present unemployment insurance act is a big job, but there are a few definite corrections in the law that can be made and that will be a big step forward. Even these few corrections can result in replacing the red ink in the fund with black.

Say you saw it in The Register.

RITES HELD FOR LUIZ ARENDONDO

Funeral services were held here Thursday for Luiz Arendondo, 57, who died at his home in Murphys, Calif., on Saturday.

He was a brother of Calistro Arendondo of Tecate, Mexico; cousin of Mrs. Emilia Espinoza of Irvington; uncle of Jennie, Beatrice, Della, Robert, Rueben and Gilbert Espinoza, Mrs. Martin Flores and Mrs. Ben Galvin, all of Irvington, and Mrs. Luiz Ramirez of San Leandro. He was a native of Mexico.

Funeral services were held from the parlors of the Berge Mortuary in Irvington at 8:30 a.m., followed by a requiem mass at St. Joseph's Church, Mission San Jose, at 9 a.m. Interment was at St. Joseph's Cemetery.

NOISES NOT PERMANENT

Even in a car seven or eight years old some astonishing results are achievable with respect to noise elimination. Give the car to a mechanic for an hour or two and let him try his hand at removing those annoying noises. The owner is bound to be surprised and pleased at the return on so small an investment.

A good paycheck, interesting work, pleasant associations, a fine Benefit Plan—these are part of a telephone job.

Good people make good telephone service

Why more than half of each dollar we take in goes to employees

1. In a service business like the telephone business, many people must pool many talents to keep calls moving smoothly. Matter of fact, meeting the West's demands for service has made us one of the West's largest employers. That means a mighty big payroll ...particularly when you consider that we can attract and keep the capable people we need only with good wages and top-notch working conditions.

2. Today, better than half of each dollar you pay for service goes to employees in wages and other expenses such as their company-paid Benefit Plan. That's more than in most businesses. In manufacturing, for example, salary and wage costs average about 24 cents. But in the telephone business, the many people—skilled people—needed to do the right job for the West, make employee costs our largest expense.

3. Making telephone jobs good jobs is a policy that means much to the nation today...when a strong telephone system, manned by skilled people, is particularly important in helping our industries and military services meet the big problem of national defense. And, even though the costs of providing telephone service have shot up sharply, telephone rates on the average have gone up less than half as much as the cost of living generally. Your telephone remains one of the best buys in your budget.

GUIDE DOG TRAINER LEARNS PROBLEMS OF BLIND

Apprentice trainer James Henderson of Guide Dogs for the Blind, Inc., is spending this month under blindfold, as must all apprentice trainers so they can better appreciate some of the problems of the blind. Henderson spends all of his waking hours for the month under blindfold and goes through the four weeks of training given each blind person. Richard Zika, a licensed trainer, here is observing Henderson on a busy San Francisco street crossing as his guide dog safely guides him through obstructions on the sidewalk. Guide Dogs for the Blind, Inc., is conducting its annual membership campaign now to provide funds to finance its program of training guide dogs which are given without cost to the blind.

U. C. ENROLLMENT EXPECTED TO DROP

Registration for the 1951 spring semester began onday on the Berkeley campus of the University of California and Registrar Thomas R. Steele estimated that some 18,180 students will sign up for instruction.

He said the estimate represents a decrease of about 3,500 students from last year's spring enrollment of 21,903, and added that the estimate might be further reduced by male students entering the armed forces.

The main reason for the reduction, he explained, is that most of the large veteran group, representing a substantial part of the total student enrollment, has graduated.

Nerve center of P.G. and E. is this giant control board in Oakland where Larry Lafrenz, with P.G. and E. 36 years, guides the flow of over 4 million horsepower. When trouble strikes, Larry's board tells him instantly. By telephone he can cut in or out any power source in the whole system so that repairs can be quickly made and power kept steadily flowing.

Meet P. G. and E.'s

storm fighters

When snow chokes the canyons, rain floods the valleys and wind howls through the cities, P. G. and E. people go on a 24-hour alert to guard your heat and light. That's quite a job: 55,500 miles of power lines to check, 13,500 miles of gas pipe to watch, to say nothing of the home and factory installations of 2½ million customers who live in an area of 89,000 square miles. Now we'd like to have you meet some of our storm fighters and learn of some of the things they do to back up the motto: "You can depend on P. G. and E."

Meet George Kritsky, who operates one of the 150 P. G. and E. mobile radio units. By means of these radio units installed in service trucks and cars, P. G. and E. men can maintain instant, direct two-way communication with their headquarters. Thus repairs are often made with no loss of service.

Lewis Kincheloe and his helper, Bob Webster, are "hot line" men in our San Joaquin Power Division. They work on lines carrying as high as 220,000 volts. It takes 620 trained linemen to maintain P. G. and E.'s 55,500 miles of power lines.

TWO MORE DOCTORS FOR THE TOWNSHIP

The days of the country doctor—that hard-pressed individual who delivers a baby, performs an appendectomy, and stops in to chat with Mrs. McGillicudy about her arthritis, all within a few hours time—are fast on the wane, even in Washington Township, which is famous for clinging to its old traditions.

Evidence of this new era in the township came to light this week with the announcements by the brothers Buehler—Dr. Lyle Buehler of Niles and Dr. Merle Buehler of Centerville—that henceforth they will not take any more obstetrical cases, but will turn the expectant mothers over to two doctors who will be associated with them and who are specialists in obstetrics.

The two doctors, who will make their appointments here for Thursdays, are Dr. Leonard W. Charvet and Dr. Donald I. Payne, both of Alameda. They will maintain offices in Alameda, but will be in Niles and Centerville every Thursday from now on. Appointments with them can be made at either of the Buehler offices at any time during the week.

Both of the medical men are graduates of the University of California Medical College; both served in the South Pacific during the war; and both have done postgraduate work in obstetrics and also have done some teaching in college. In their association with the Doctors Buehler, they will handle the pre-natal and delivery care of patients, turning them over to the Buehlers for post-natal care and for care of their infants.

Both Dr. Lyle Buehler and Dr. Merle Buehler are agreed that the association of the two obstetricians in their practice will allow them to devote more time to their general practice and to their surgical cases, and—equally important—will allow them a few more hours of badly needed rest and relaxation.

NEED OF STRONG CIVIL DEFENSE PLAN STRESSED

The effects of an atomic bomb burst and the need for a well organized civil defense system to care for its victims was explained to the members of the Centerville Lions Club at their meeting Tuesday evening by Oscar Pohl of Warm Springs, safety superintendent at Moffett Field.

The Lions were first shown movies of the damage resulting from the atomic bomb blasts at Hiroshima and Nagasaki, Japan, during World War II.

Following the movie, Pohl spoke briefly on what precautions should be taken to minimize injuries in the event of an atomic attack. He recommended the reading of the booklet, "Survival Under Atomic Attack," for every man, woman and child.

He revealed that a breakdown of casualties from a normal air burst of an atomic bomb shows that approximately 65 per cent are from the blast; 20 per cent of the casualties are caused by the heat, both from "flash" heat and secondary fires, and 15 per cent of the casualties result from radiation.

Pohl outlined seven rules to follow for self-protection:

1. Disperse. Get away from possible target area.
2. Take cover. Basements, underground shelter if possible. Get the most material between you and the blast.
3. Help others. About 90 seconds after the burst, the debris has stopped falling and there is no radiation hazard.
4. Report to designated place. Report to receive treatment, be evacuated or to work to help over-all situation.
5. Don't eat, chew, drink or smoke until items are checked for radiation. A small amount of radiation outside the body is harmless, inside the body it may cause much trouble.
6. Don't spread rumors. Keep your experience to yourself and don't enlarge on what you hear from others.
7. Bathe and change clothes. As soon as practicable scrub hair, face, hands and fingernails and change clothes.

"Our area here is definitely not classified as a target area," Pohl said. "However, your civil defense organization outside the target areas is more important than the organization within the target area."

SOME VETS WILL NOT GET BONUS

There is one category of National Service Life Insurance policyholder who did not participate in the 1950 special dividend and will not share in the one to be paid this year, according to officers of Vallejo Mills Post, V.F.W., Niles.

This category includes those World War II veterans who have policies designated with an "H" number issued to veterans who have disabilities which would ordinarily render them medically uninsurable, but who were granted NSLI because their disabilities resulted from or were aggravated by wartime military or naval service.

Insurance of this type is considered nonparticipating insurance, rather than mutual, and therefore does not carry any right to dividends.

ALVISO MOTHERS PLAN PLASTIC PARTY

Two new members were welcomed into the Alviso Mothers Club at the regular meeting, held last Monday at the Alviso School. The two are Mrs. Alice Gomes and Mrs. Eleanor Frates.

Other business of the meeting included the voting of a cash contribution to the March of Dimes fund, as the Club was unable to participate in the recent Porch Light Brigade. The members also discussed plans for a plastic party to be held at the next club meeting on March 8.

Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Irma Brown, Mrs. Florence Luiz, Mrs. Mary Nova, Mrs. M. Gonsalves, Mrs. Frances Mello and Mrs. Rose Soares. The treat for Club members was the traditional Portuguese sugar donut served by this committee annually at the beginning of the Lenten season.

WASHINGTON FIVE IN CRUCIAL LEAGUE BATTLE TONIGHT

The Washington High School Huskies face one of their most crucial tests in their S.C.V.A.L. pennant race tonight (Friday) when they will be hosts to the Mt. View quintet on the home maples.

The Huskies are now in a second-place tie with Fremont with a standing of 5 wins and 1 loss, trailing undefeated Los Gatos.

Dopesters have picked tonight's game as a certainty to be a thriller, based on past performances. The Huskies, in mid-January defeated Fremont by two points in the closing seconds. Last Friday night the Fremont Indians won over the Mt. Viewers by one point in an overtime.

Coach Clyde Voorhees' lads must win tonight to stay in the contest for the pennant.

EASY VICTORY

Last Friday night the Huskies staged a 20-point fourth-quarter scoring spree that gave them a 48-28 victory over the Gilroy quintet.

The game was played on an even basis during the first three quarters with the Huskies constantly in the lead but never by more than a three-point margin—then came the blistering fourth period.

Ralph "Whitey" Juhl sparked the Huskies scoring attack with 17 points, followed by Davis with 12.

Coach Don Wolfe's Puppies lost a heart-breaking 21-22 curtain-raiser to the Gilroy lightweights. The Puppies held the lead from the opening whistle until the final seconds.

GRADS BEATEN

Tuesday afternoon some of the grads gathered at the gymnasium for a wheezing four-quarter drubbing at the hands of the varsity. Starting lineup for the "has beens" was John Bolivia, Irving Alameda, Joe Sankene, Bill Ramsey and Phil Enciso. Despite the fact that Sankene poured eighteen points through the hoops, the grads went down to a 51-52 defeat.

The Puppies defeated their ex-Washington opponents 27 to 21.

THE BIGHORN CLINGS TO PRECIPITOUS LEDGES

Return of the Bighorn—Desert Sheep Roam Freely

The Bighorn Sheep of the desert seems to be coming back.

One of the most fascinating and most rarely encountered animals of the desert country is the desert variety of the famous Rocky Mountain Bighorn Sheep.

These interesting characters, scientifically designated as Ovis nelsoni, present an excellent example of what geographical isolation can achieve in the process of time.

Desert Bighorns are a local race of the parent stock that have become peculiarly adapted to life in low altitudes in the more arid regions. Confined to the desert area of Southern California, Lower California and desert regions of Mexico, they can survive with very little water, can withstand high temperatures.

General Scarcity

Perhaps because of a general scarcity of their preferred food in the desert areas, they have become a relatively pigmy race, being considerably smaller than the more northern Bighorn of the high Rockies. Also, they are much lighter in color than the type species.

The rams, when they reach maturity at the end of three or four years, begin to develop magnificent horns that curve upward, backward and downward. The adult ewes have straight horns that extend upward and very slightly backward.

The Bighorn has a highly specialized hoof that is marvelously adapted to their rocky environment. While lateral hoofs are present, the main hoof consists of a spongy cushion that absorbs the shock of abrupt landings on hard surfaces.

Bunch Hoofs

Descent of particularly precipitous ledges is made by bunching all four hoofs. I have seen a startled ewe jump fully 20 feet from boulder to boulder, and keep on going!

Mountain sheep browse on just about every kind of leafy plant. I've observed them at close range feeding on such typically desert plants as burroweed, Krameria, galleta grass and the thin, characteristic grasses of the Upper Sonoran zone. They will occasionally descend to the floors of desert canyons for shade, and to nibble on mesquite and even chuparosa.

Except when searching for water, they seldom wander far from their favorite feeding grounds. One band which I observed all summer, and studied with mounting admiration, never got more than a mile from their water hole—which they visited regularly three times a day.

Gregarious Animals

Bighorns are gregarious animals, traveling in bands—the smaller bands usually representing a single family group. Mating starts early in September and copulation occurs in December, the lambs appearing in May or June.

New-born lambs are given every priority and parental attention until the next mating season; then they must shift for themselves. They are about four years old before they commence mating. During the mating season, all adults in the band pair off and scatter to the higher crags and peaks until they are through mating; then they return to the band.

In pioneer times, Bighorns were very numerous, bands of 50 to 200 animals being common. Ruthless slaughter reduced them almost to extinction. In recent years, their killing has been strictly forbidden by law, with heavy penalties to offenders. There is no open season at any time.

Natural Enemies

Reduction of their natural enemies, such as lions and other predators, by government hunters has enabled the sheep to stage a slow come-back. They are not yet numerous but small bands of desert Bighorns can now be found on both sides of the Coachella and Imperial Valleys, in the Borrego and Yuha areas and in most of the southern mountain ranges of the Mohave Desert.

Their extremely keen vision and general alertness present a real challenge to all desert folk who aspire to observe them.

Adventures in Business

Blacksmith Challenges World

By NICHOLS FIELD WILSON

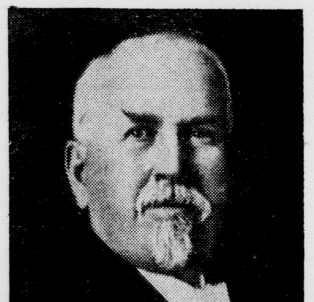
In 1872 Byron Jackson, with a village blacksmith shop in Woodland, founded the great Byron-Jackson Company, now world famous, with plants on both coasts, thousands of workers throughout the world, now in its 79th year. Fame, such as experienced by few men, is ever paying tribute to this courageous pioneer and man of vision.

The heritage left America by Byron Jackson and our hardy California pioneers can best be measured only in the inspiration acquired by their followers who have carried on with faith, courage and work stimulated by the example set by these founders of California and our free enterprise patterns.

W. N. Beadle, personable and highly respected vice president of the multi-million dollar corporation, Byron-Jackson Company, never fails to credit founder Byron Jackson with his great contribution to California and the world and likes to quote these words of Byron Jackson himself:

"I established the works at Woodland, California in 1872 and in 1879 moved them to San Francisco. I have disposed of my old tools and replaced them with many special tools, to improve the quality of our work, believing that the very best advertisement is to send out a thoroughly good article, such as will insure the order being repeated. We intend, by strict attention to business, careful attention to selecting the best quality of material, superior work and liberal dealings, to merit your confidence and patronage."

—Byron Jackson



BYRON JACKSON

Defense Work

A bird'seye view of Byron Jackson Company's activities are sketched but there are many more for the company is handling a good deal of defense work and has several projects under way for the government. Not one or two. Several.

Important discoveries and developments at Byron-Jackson Company are commonplace. Recently information was released by the military concerning a new kind of weapon, a "super bazooka," for use against tanks. This gun can fire a missile through 13 inches of armor plate. It is loaded with what amounts to a five-inch rocket with a so-called "shaped charge."

Extensive work in the shaped charge world for peaceful purposes is credited to Byron Jackson Company, and it would be difficult to say how much the firm's success influenced development of the new weapon. Remarkable results in the use of the shaped charge principle have been achieved. Employing this method, BJ "brought in" the deepest producing oil well in the world in 1949 at Wasco, in Kern county, at a depth of over 15,000 feet.

Shaped Charge

A shaped charge is an explosive with a dent in one end. When the charge is set off, the dent gives the blast a highly-penetrating, jet-like force. Byron-Jackson Company have developed the idea although there is nothing new about it. Today, BJ products are in use in half or more of the oil wells while much work has been done to perfect their processes for water wells.

The $300,000,000 oil line completed from the Persian Gulf to the Mediterranean of more than 1000 miles is equipped with BJ pumping units, the world's largest oil line pumps.

The new, $90,000,000 pipeline project from Edmonton, Canada, to the Great Lakes, with BJ pumps.

The firm's submersible electric motors and pumps for underground fueling of airplanes that now take eight hours to fuel a B-36 by what Beadle terms old-fashioned methods. Beadle says, "BJ submersible electric motor units could do the job faster, safely and more conveniently. The fuel storage tanks could be right under the runway or blocks away at safest locations."

No More Fear of Choking, Gasping Asthma Spasms

Scores of Burlingame citizens are free from fear of attacks of Asthma since the famous physician's prescription, known as B.T. Formula has been made available to the public. B.T. Formula is a liquid medicine, which, if taken regularly, lessens and allays the attacks of bronchispasms to the point of bringing asthma sufferers almost complete relief from this dreaded occurrence. B.T. Formula enters the blood stream and reaches the bronchial tubes, both large and small, loosening the phlegm that brings on the choking and loss of breath you have experienced. Colusa Rice Survey Starts

A survey of the management practices on farms where rice was grown in 1950 was started in Colusa County by G. R. Sitton, agricultural economist in the University of California Agricultural Experiment Station at Davis. The work is in a cooperative arrangement with the U.S.D.A. and will also include studies of farms in Butte, Glenn, Yolo and Yuba counties.

Because the 1950 government controls of rice acreage will be continued this year, many growers will have to find alternate crops that can be grown profitably on heavy soils. A cross-section of the entire area will be taken to compile cost data on all farming operations carried on in 1950.

Criswell . . . .

that you are now in. You will find that your husband will return, but you will make him meet his obligations. The child needs medical attention, so take him to the clinic which your city provides. I know that better times are coming for you, and that life has many happy things in store for you.

Dear Criswell: How can I get questions answered? How much do they cost?—Vera W.

My Dear Vera W: There is no charge for this service. Merely write Criswell Predicts, in care of this paper, signing your full name and address. Only your initials will be used in the answer which will be printed in this column as soon as possible.

Dear Criswell: Where will I meet the man I am to marry and when? Will I have a better job? Why don't I have more friends? I despise going to the movies alone. What can I do?—Kathryn A. T.

My Dear Kathryn: You will make an unexpected trip east and meet him there. You will change jobs after you receive your vacation pay. You should go to church and there you will find friends. Do not be too selective for your companionship. You face a very active year.

Dear Criswell: Will my daughter and her husband be able to make a go of their marriage? Will my son stay on his present job? Will my son and his nice wife make out okay? Will we sell our home soon?—Mrs. G.V.B.

My dear Mrs. G.V.B.: Yes, but there is some stormy weather coming. Yes, but there will be a change at the end of the summer for the better. Yes, but they will go east at a later date. Not at present. I know you will be much stronger in your health, as you will watch your diet very closely and follow your doctor's orders.

Dear Criswell: Why did my husband hit the man next door? Was it because I was once married to his brother? Will I have another child this year?—Bess D.

My dear Bess D: The argument involved the children, not you. The marriage had nothing to do with it. Yes, a little boy.

Dear Criswell: You were right about my sister and this other fellow, now I am scared to ask you about Robert. Did he or didn't he spend time in prison? Should I buy this expensive new tombstone this man wants me to, or should I spend the money and enjoy myself?—Mrs. Roy D.R.

My dear Mrs. R.: Robert did spend time for grand theft, for this is public record. No. It would be better to spend the money on yourself, while you are living. You will take that trip that you have planned, for you can well afford it. Do nothing without consulting your bank concerning the corner property.

Dear Criswell: Will I ever get John back? Does he still go with Ruth? Why was the Christmas card returned from a certain person?—Unice K.

My dear Unice K.: He will return but I feel that you will be romantically interested in some one else at that time. I do not certainly feel that he is not with Ruth. They have moved, but you will hear from them soon!

Dear Criswell: When will we have our first child and what sex will it be? Will our marriage be a happy one? What about mother's health? How long will my husband work at his present job?—Mrs. Pat S.R.

My dear Mrs. Pat: In November, a girl. Yes. Only fair, but it will improve. Until next year, and then he will be in business for himself. Yes, a beautiful future.

Dear Criswell: Will I have an operation? Will I marry Steve? What happened to my watch?—Martha T.

My dear Martha: I sense that you will seek other medical opinion on this condition. You will make the trip, but there is no operation. Yes, you will marry Steve, but you must be patient. Your watch has been packed with other personal belongings, and you will find it very soon. Do not overtax your strength during this period, but get the proper rest and mild exercise, watch your diet, and then you will feel much better.

Dear Criswell: My husband is an ex-GI and he has spells which the doctors diagnose as insanity. Are these spells due to his service, and if they are, why won't the Veterans' Administration service his case? The V.A. now has him under court order and observation. Should he get released from his guardianship, and if he does will he lose his pension and insurance, which is the only income we now have? Why is luck so against us—Gladys JHS 579.

My dear Gladys: I know that his army service had much to do with his present condition, and by no means release him from the guardianship, for then you would have no rights whatsoever. My advice is to write what you have written me to your senator, tell him all the ugly facts of the case, and I know that action will result. Thank you for your confidence in me and in this newspaper. Let me know how you come out. I know you will be pleased with the outcome.

Dear Criswell: Some time ago you predicted that my wife would return to me, which she did, and now she will only stay if I sign over the other house to her. Should I do this?—Max T.

My dear Max: It was your wife's money that started you in business, and I feel that it would only be fair to sign this other house over to her, and then she would feel independent. She is a loyal wife and she loves you very much. She left you because of your family.

Dear Criswell: Did we do right in buying this property? Is my husband faithful to me or is he playing around with that hussy? Will I go back to work? Will I get the money back I loaned my sister—Mrs. Ada G.

My dear Ada: Yes, you will get your money out of it. He is faithful. Yes, in a month. Yes, but you will personally tell her that you need the loan repaid at once. You will have a home of your own in three years. Your daughter will change to popular music. You will later work for federal civil service.

Dear Criswell: Is Anna living?—Ed.

My dear Ed: No.

Dear Criswell: Will my daughter be operated on for cancer? Will I find myself a good job soon? Will Mother be with us long? Will we go to South Dakota next May?—Mrs. Effie M.

My dear Effie: She will have other medical opinions before she submits. Yes, you will be nursing near your home. Yes, for some time. Yes. You will own income property within three years.

Dear Criswell: How will my son's marriage finally come out? Will my husband and I move from this town very soon —June B.

My dear June: They will go back together soon. Yes, next year. Your grandson will regain partial hearing. Your daughter will soon be working steady. Your faith will bring you through.

Dear Criswell: What is wrong with my husband and my marriage? Does he love me? Will my sister Eunice marry John? Will my children ever live with me?—Mrs. Irvin W.W.

My dear Mrs. W.: You and your husband have drifted apart because you now have many different interests, but I do feel the common bond still exists, and you will find that you will become more closely allied. Yes, but not as soon as she expects. Yes, very soon!

Dear Criswell: I am too deaf to hear you on the radio, so I want you to answer my problem through the columns of the newspaper. Will the difference in religion of my daughter and her husband make the child unhappy? Will hear diabetic twin get better? Will my 13-year-old grandchild who has a defective circulation, grow to maturity? Will I ever receive any money from Canada or is that past redemption?—Mrs. Ethel L.C.

My dear Ethel L.C.: The child will make her own choice next year when she reaches 15. Your daughter will improve through a new diet and treatment. Your grandchild will live as long as he takes care of himself, as overexertion can cause a heart strain in this case, as your doctor has told you. You will receive a token payment from Canada, but you must make yourself a heard. You will always be protected.

Dear Criswell: Will we move to another house? Who cut the window screens when my neighbors were away? What became of my new spatula?—Bea-Mrs. M.A.B.

My dear Bea: Yes, by early spring. Some boys down the block. It is at a friend's house. You will be pleased by the events to come on March 19.

Dear Criswell: Will the business proposition pay out?—George N.

My dear George: Withdraw at once or you will lose every cent.

(Criswell will be happy to answer your personal problems through the columns of Magazine California—Address, 2524 18th Street, Bakersfield, Calif. All answers will be published as space permits.)

Criswell Answers . . .

Dear Criswell: Life is so complex. My husband gambles and loses, and things have been terrible in business. How soon will we clear the mortgage? Will we lose money on this business? Will my husband take another foreign job? Should I enter real estate sales?—Mrs. Ella B.

My Dear Mrs. B.: You will find that things will start to be magically clear by mid-March, and you will clear the mortgage this year. You will sell out later and about break even. You will accompany your husband on another foreign job next year. You will not enter the real estate business in a professional manner. You should consult a lawyer at once on the collection of insurance on your son's death.

Dear Criswell: How will R. and I make out? Will we ever get married? He is now in difficulty, will he make out all right?—Miss P.

My Dear Miss P: You are bound to this man through a negative pity for him, and I do feel that you will have other romantic interests in the very near future. He will get out of his trouble, but it will be a tight squeeze. I do not sense that you are too serious with him, but he is only just a good friend.

Dear Criswell: What do I have that causes me to be the envy of others? Will my son stop drinking and be his wonderful self again. His dear wife and family are heartbroken.—Mrs. E. M. L.

My Dear Mrs. E. M. L.—Many envy you because of your friendly and wholesome personality, and of the way you enjoy life. You have a very pleasant way of dealing with people which was innerborn with you. Your son will improve, but the constant nagging will not aid him. Tell him "You owe it to yourself" and his ego will rebel against his own wasting of his life. You will take a trip within three weeks that will be most happy.

Dear Criswell: Is there anything left in the world for me? Will my husband ever be a man again and come home? Will the young one ever get any better? Will I ever have a house to live in?—Opal L. S.

My Dear Opal: You have been too easy and too unselfish with your time and effort and it has led you to the present state

New Use Found For Old Type Food Cooker

Commercial use of an old type food cooker for processing certain fruits and vegetables may be revived because of a new method developed in a University of California College of Agriculture research project.

A modified Henze cooker, used widely in Germany 40 to 50 years ago to produce alcohol from potatoes, has been used successfully to pre-heat, steam scald, crush, extract juice, and flash pasteurize fruit and vegetables in one operation.

Temporary Research

Conducting the research was J. B. S. Braverman, director of the Central Citrus Research Station, Rohovot, Israel, who held a temporary research appointment at the university for several months.

The Henze cooker is a stainless steel conical pressure cylinder with a blow-out valve at the bottom.

In experimental tests, tomatoes, citrus fruit and peels, apricots, and pear cores and peels were successfully processed for use in making such things as juice, pie fills, baby foods and syrups.

Wash and Trim

Applied to tomatoes, the method is as follows: After washing and trimming, place whole tomatoes into cooker; introduce live steam, driving out the air and pre-heating the product; close the cooker and raise steam pressure to about 45 pounds for two to three minutes; shut the steam inlet and open the blow-out valve quickly, discharging the entire contents, which become completely disintegrated when released into the ordinary atmosphere.

The mash is screened to remove seeds and fragments.

Resultant juice has good color and texture, although slightly diluted with the steam condensate in small scale pilot tests. With a sufficient quantity of fruit, dilution can be reduced considerably.

Streamlined Version of Chicken Almond

For a streamlined version of Chinese chicken almond, saute sliced onion and 1-inch pieces of celery in butter. Then add diced cooked chicken and mushrooms, heat thoroughly. Stir in consomme with enough cornstarch to thicken and soy sauce to season, and cook only until thickened. Add the roasted almonds and serve over fluffy steamed rice immediately.

Waffles and Peaches Ideal Shortcake

Crisp warm waffles put together with plenty of whipped cream and canned cling peach slices are the makings of a popular peach waffle shortcake. If you like, you can use packaged mix for the waffles in this quick tasty dessert.

Scandinavians Soak Meat Loaf Crumbs

You can take a tip from the Scandinavians about preparing meat balls and meat loaves. They soak bread crumbs in milk and then add them to the meat mixture so the finished baked product will be soft and delectable.

Tulelake Pioneers Carve Ski Run at Medicine Lake

By JOHN B. EDMANDS,
Editor The Tulelake Reporter

PRETTY GIRLS BLEND IN WITH WINTER WONDERLAND AT MEDICINE LAKE
These two women skiers are attracted to the smooth slopes of the mountain

No one in the northeast end of California, or in the southeast end of Oregon, was very much surprised when a band of young Tulelake farmers and businessmen volunteered their time, their machinery and their eagerness to clear red tape and a mountainside to build a new road and to defy all the elements . . . all so that a community might ski on week-ends.

It was not an easy project, and there was good reason to think it couldn't succeed. But from the first day a 15-year-old boy helped fall big timber, to the day one farmer financed the purchase of three Army surplus snow cats . . . the issue was never in doubt.

Tulelake is synonymous with homesteading (and for some, the home of a 20,000-Japanese internment camp in World War II), and homesteading demands a prerequisite of pioneer spirit, stubbornness and just plain guts.

Good Challenge

For a community that had grown from a 90,000-acre lake into a thriving center of over 700 prosperous homesteads and a modern business center with a million and a quarter assessed valuation in two short generations, such demands as the Medicine Lake ski project presented were nothing more than just another good challenge.

Medicine Lake is located in the heart of Shasta National Forest, and the 25 crow-fly miles from Tulelake over some very rugged roads was only further incentive for early Tulelake pioneers to make this beauty spot their summer retreat. Even in the late '20s, cottages began to appear around the lake's calm, tempting shores.

In those early days, too, the Cascade Mountain peaks that towered better than 1000 feet over Medicine Lake's 6200-foot level were very tempting for a few hardy ski enthusiasts, both from this part of California and just across the line in Oregon.

But the development of Medicine Lake as a year-round playground for this end of the great Klamath Basin was never seriously considered, and there were those among the "first settlers" who weren't too anxious to have their quiet retreat turned into a tourists' haven.

Many Changes

The end of World War II brought many changes to Tulelake, and it brought also three new homestead drawings . . . and a sudden transformation into a farming area and community with a high percentage of young families . . . most of them graduates of the World War II school of unbridled enthusiasm for getting ahead . . . and enjoying it.

It was in the summer of 1949 that this enthusiasm was first channelled into a plan for a community organization with an objective of developing the Medicine Lake area into a ski slope for all to enjoy.

First the official blessing of the Shasta National Forest officials had to be obtained. Talking, driving, time and persistence accomplished this important first step. But while the forestry authorities approved the plan to clear a 3000-foot slope on Badger Peak, 1½ miles southwest of Medicine Lake itself, the Shasta officials could promise little in the way of assistance in keeping the forest road open the year round, and improving that road for year-round passenger car travel.

Went Ahead

There were other foreboding governmental misgivings that might have discouraged another community project from the outset. But Tulelake's young folk wouldn't take no for an answer, and they went ahead with their own plans to develop a winter wonderland deep in the heart of virgin timber, where six feet of snow has been known to hide the summer cabins, and over roads that at times had defied all but the heartiest jeep.

Even while Medicine Lake Ski Club was being born, an advance guard had cleared one ski slope six miles below the lake, and Tulelakers with not too much regard for a set of tires and the limitations of a clutch were getting their first taste of skiing in their own back yard.

One young farmer's cat, another's engine, and the rope provided by contributions from many, were all the investment that went into that first ski slope in 1949. But it was ski country, and the idea was gaining enthusiasm fast.

Before the end of that season, Medicine Lake Ski Club had over 200 adult and small-fry paid-up members. And there was a strong representation from Klamath Falls, Ore., where skiers desired a change from the congested slopes of Crater Lake.

Winter Playground

Throughout the spring and summer of 1950, the idea grew: A pastime for a few hardies had snowballed into a necessary winter playground for businessmen with a yen for a "day away from it all;" housewives who still retained their girlhood love for the outdoors; kids who loved the snow despite their allegiance to sunny California; and young farmers and farmers' sons who wanted to pour their energies into something worthwhile during the slow winter months.

With an eye to the complexities and legal responsibilities of even a humble community project, club officers took steps to incorporate, and investigation was made for adequate liability insurance coverage.

Other skiers thought first aid in the remote Medicine Lake ski country was a must, and this group went ahead with the formation of a ski patrol instructed in first aid by qualified Red Cross instructors.

Meanwhile, armed with Shasta Forest approval, another group was clearing the first half of a 3000-foot slope; and a cut-off road into the ski area was being pushed through tall timber with farmer-owned cats and bulldozers and graders, manned six hours at a stretch by young men who might have spent the time more comfortably at a movie, or home with their families.

Work Continued

All that summer . . . when spud irrigating or barley combining didn't interfere . . . and all through the fall, the work continued. In late November, when the first heavy snows had covered the 7473-foot Badger Peak, the skiers were there.

Much equipment had been gathered, and much more was needed. A fashion show was held and ski films shown, and the club's treasury was slowly built up.

Two of the three snow cats purchased from Army surplus were put into working condition, using parts of the third machine. A sleigh to transport 22 persons with full equipment from the car-park area to the ski tow was built; a 700-foot rope tow was installed; and it was all no sooner done than it became apparent it wouldn't be enough.

And It Grows

There was pride in these young Americans over their accomplishment, and their club . . . one of many demanding their time in a small community . . . became an important part of their lives: Business meetings were always well attended; social events were inevitably a success; arm crests and membership cards were worn or carried with pride, and skiing came into its own in Tulelake.

The story of Medicine Lake Club, Incorporated, is not complete. There is the final legal steps for incorporation, there is an advanced course in first aid being arranged for the patrol that has just completed the basic first aid classes; the 700-foot rope tow will have to be doubled to meet the demands that the full 3000 feet of the slope be utilized.

The long road into the ski country must be kept cleared, and the one sleigh has already been augmented by a second home-built affair; an old bus has been hauled 3000 feet up and 27 miles in for use as a warm-up shack, while there is still the hope that the nearby Medicine Lake Lodge will be operated the year-round to serve skiers and fishermen alike.

Call to War

And all the time, Uncle Sam keeps draining this Medicine Lake Army into another, more important Army. But this doesn't bother these young sportsmen most of whom have served their country in one war.

As one young farmer put it: "If I'm going to help with this thing, I'd better get on the ball . . . next month I may be back in the Navy."

Some day when you are driving through this corner of California, already famous for its ducks, its geese, pheasant, deer and outdoor life, bring along your skis, for in November through to June there's a new thrill in store on the picturesque slopes of Badger Peak.

And if you're flying, just 260 air miles from San Francisco and 30 miles east-northeast of towering Mount Shasta, you will find the pride and joy of Tulelake . . . its ski slope.

Tulelakers have just completed construction of a fine new air field, located nine miles south of the city at Newell.

No more pioneer spirit left in America?

Who're you kidding?!!

Faded Are the Gift Plants

Something Can Be Done to Save Winter Blooms

By ALFRED AMES
Garden Editor, Magazine California

We have come to that time of the year when most Christmas gift plants have faded and gone. It's too bad that beautiful things such as cyclamen and azaleas have so short a life span in the average home. Seems a pity that a year or two of care by the grower should be spent so soon. Wonder if we can do something about it?

If we were able in our homes to duplicate the conditions under which these plants are grown, it not only would be possible to lengthen the blooming season but the plants would be larger and more beautiful the next year. The three main reasons this type of plant fails to prosper are:

1. Most homes are about 15 degrees too warm.
2. The atmosphere is much too dry.
3. There is insufficient light.

Hot House

We are inclined to think of the nurseryman's glass house only as a hot house. Now a glass house from which most of your winter blooming flowering plants come serves as a means of protection for foliage and flowers and a growing space where humidity and light can be controlled. If you can just arrange to sprinkle the living room rug heavily each day, replace the walls with glass and turn the furnace down to the low sixties your cyclamen and azaleas will thrive.

Well, maybe it wasn't a bad idea to move those heavy clay pots out before your New Year's Eve party anyway. After all we've enjoyed them a week and they have had all they can take of our environment. Sometimes a window in a cold garage offers a suitable space to coax a few more blooms to open and a place to leave 'em until you find the right spot to plant them out.

If you are a real lover of flowering house plants why not try a Saint Paulia or African violet. This baby really goes for the hotter spots, with a little coaxing. First, she wants light—any window not in direct sun—suits her just fine and once you two come to understand each other you'll find that whether white, pink or blue she will bloom continually.

It seems the accepted method is to grow her in rather light soil mixture, water from the bottom, and feed at intervals with a dilute liquid plant food. The secret of her success is that she doesn't need a humid atmosphere. If the small fragile bloom of the African violet doesn't appeal to you—try to find someone that has plants of the Dupont strain. Their bloom and foliage is much larger and more attractive than the usual Saint Paulia.

While we are talking about flowering plants let's re-state our case. If a plant needs light it's not going to thrive or live long on the dark side of the room! Now here is where the trouble comes in. In recent years the place of the Boston fern in the living room has been taken over by a host of more interesting plants. Look in any modern variety store window and there is a display of foliage plants—generally they look fine too.

Why shouldn't they? Large plate glass windows for light, pretty good temperature control, and always one salesperson more interested in plants than in purveying pots, pans and pins. Here's where the trouble comes—that display of plants may contain several different types of plants. You ask how they will do in a dark room—"Fine, my philodendron is four years old and by actual measurement has over fifty feet of nice foliage!"

Foliage Plant

Being thus reassured you pick a plant with foliage that appeals to you—the rub is that this display rack has vitus, dieffenbachia, kerchoviana, pondanus, and cyngonium — whoops, none of them will stand conditions under which philodendron can get along.

Now if Sadie, the sales girl, wants to impress the boss, and really do you and me a good turn, she'd put a label on each plant. You don't care whether Fiscus elastica is a fig or Pomeranian pomegranite.

But, you should know that if you put it over in a dark corner it's not going to thrive (like Mrs. Jones' split leaf philodendron which she has in just such a situation).

Sadie doesn't need to know whether the philodendron was pertusum grandifolium, giganteum, or cordatum. The really important thing is—does it prefer light or dark—just put that on the label and we'll get along.

Spoil Day

Could be that after much research the man who delivers the plants might even tell Sadie how to set up a third classification "medium." Sounds like making toast—a dark piece can just spoil the whole day—for some individuals!

Planters of all descriptions are being used to such a large extent that quite often artificial light supplements natural daylight to such a degree that each lamp in the living room creates a potential green house area.

We'd better draw this to a close while there is still room in the house for the furniture!

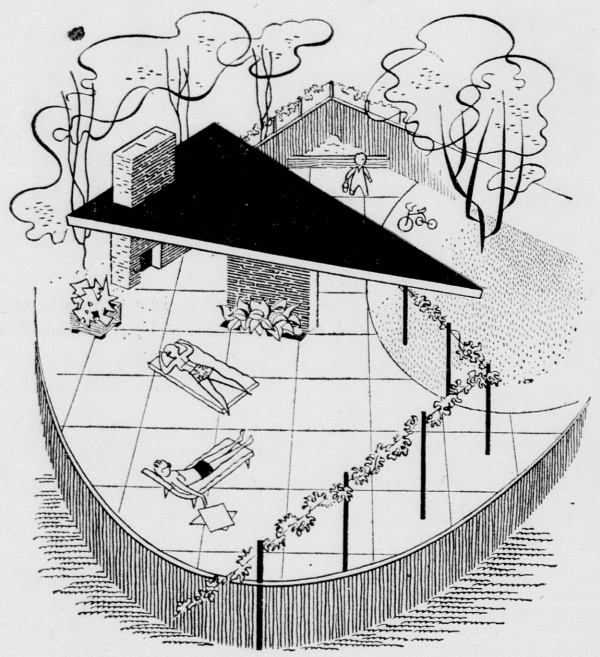
Planning a Garden — Grow One Suitable for Living

A garden planned to be lived in should have four major areas, says Robert Deering of the landscape gardening division of the University of California at Davis.

These might be called public, service, private, and living areas, all of which should be thought of as indoor-outdoor spaces for living. "The large amounts of glass now used in our homes make it impossible to separate the inside from the outside," he points out.



The public area does not need to be large, he emphasizes. Its main uses are for entering and leaving the house and garage, and as a buffer against traffic noises and dust. It should be kept free and uncluttered. It needs little "dressing up" with shrubs.

The service area, on the other hand, should be well screened with free growing hedges, walls, or fences with vines.

Privacy and quiet are the important requirements of the areas off the bedrooms, where terraces can be used by children and adults for play or sun bathing.

Since the living room area is the center of family group activities, only sufficient plantings, walls, screens, and fences should be used to give adequate privacy.

"For all these sections, choose plants that have growth habits suitable to their location, and do not plan to put in more growing material than you can easily care for. Leave yourself time for enjoying your garden," he advises.

Don't Burn Those Leaves! Worth Lots for Leaf-Mold

Scarcest of all garden soil improvers is humus. Few gardens have enough of it although every gardener has an opportunity to manufacture it from garden wastes, and especially dead leaves. It is estimated that the leaves from any full grown shade tree, if properly composted, will be worth $5 to the gardener.

Never burn leaves. If piled up and allowed to decay, they produce leaf mould, one of the most useful soil conditioners which amateur gardeners can have. The more he advances in the practice of his hobby, the more useful will the gardener find this material.

Pile Leaves

So do not burn leaves. Pile them up, and invite your neighbors who are not so keen on gardening, to bring their dead leaves over to your pile. If you use no special treatment to hasten their decay, in two years at most they will be reduced to leaf mould. But one may easily shorten this period by months, if he prefers.

Set aside a suitable location, out of the way, and preferably screened by planting, or a fence; 10x10 feet would be an average size. Clean off all vegetation, and harden the surface soil by rolling. Pile evenly over this area all dead leaves and other waste plant and even animal material, from your garden, and from kitchen wastes. But carefully exclude all wood, branches, twigs and metal objects.

When the layer, well tramped down, is six inches thick, sprinkle it with a balanced fertilizer mixture, about one ounce to a square yard. Wood ashes and limestone are also beneficial, each in three or more times this quantity. Then wet it down.

Build up the heap, layer by layer, with similar applications between the layers; and keep it moist. If bad odors develop an inch of soil thrown on top of each layer will prevent them.

Pruning Chores

The proper time for pruning roses, deciduous trees, and hardy shrubs is in January and February. Cut out all weak branches on rose bushes, leaving only the strong canes recently developed. Cut these back to form a shapely framework.

Apply bone meal and a good dressing of manure. Later, when active growth starts, commercial fertilizer should be applied. Make cuts with sharp shears close to bud growths which you select for new branches. The direction in which a bud points indicates the direction the new growth will take.

Clean up all old foliage and burn it, then spray plants with lime sulphur to kill scale and prevent rust from developing. Belle of Portugal roses bloom on the present growth and if pruned now will produce no flowers until next year.

Prune them in summer. Most other climbing roses should be pruned now. Cut out the oldest canes, leaving fresh new wood.

A land-use survey of San Francisco in 1949 disclosed 5410 acres devoted to parks, institutions and military reservations.

What's New in Hats For You

By HELEN WEILL
Fashion Editor

M-m-m, how to please the heart of every lady and tease the purse of every man? What's your guess? But the first three answers don't count because Dame Fashion is way ahead, with the one and only solution. And that is a brand new hat.

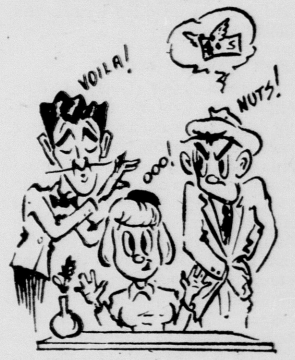
Knowest thou a Dame so fair who never for herself did dare—to choose a hat? And the hats for this season are daring and gay, usually small in size, yet covering most of the head, and designed to make the most of the delightful coquetish short hair cut that my Lady finds so young and flattering.

Leaning toward the French accent, one might choose the tip from Christian Dior, himself, a Quadricorne of velvet, in violet, perhaps. This is tiny as a doll's hat, with one corner pointing toward the bridge of the nose.

Another is a fur felt pill box, perched straight across the brow with but a fake diamond for trim. This in the new burnt orange is most exciting, and in basic black is always appropriate for My Lady.

Jockey Cap

For true California living, where My Lady dashes madly from marketing, to golf, back to P. T. A. and on to her bridge foursome, nothing is more practical than the casual jockey cap, with a soft bill dipping over the forehead. This is a bit more dressy in velvet with a bright red Martin velvet ribbon and a gilt button for decoration, and bit more sporty in a menswear flannel of butcher grey with a wee red feather atop it.



If you must be out doors in all kinds of weather, how about Paulette's type of a jersey skull cap worn with a hooded capelet? In the wind you can pull the hood up over the cap and roll a cuff back to show the pretty plaid lining.

For something more dressy, how about a profile in champagne wool jersey, bubbling with pompons where the brim bends back? The velour pillbox is always good, and may be found this season in a galaxy of colors.

And for a young happy choice that is becoming to most ages, we find the well fitted cloche most popular. It too may be dressed up with a crocheted band of gold through which pearls and sequins are laced. This is particularly lovely in blacks, pinks or greys.

Best News

And best news of all, that is actually a scoop this month is that Dame Fashion says that hats are coming into their own. After a lull of several years, the hat can now stand on its own laurels, and the hair stylists are making a deliberate effort to create the perfect hair lines and styles for the hats of the year. In other words, there is a hat for every hair style, and if you find a hat that is not for your short cropped impish pattern, you can always add a bun of honest to goodness matching hair that ties snugly to your own with a velvet ribbon, and no one is the wiser. . . but your pocket book.

But if such a change gives you the new personality for the event, that you have been craving, and since the added chignon is fine genuine hair—that too is lasting and may be used over and over again, fitting nicely into your planned fashion budget.

Or to hold this new bun in place, how about a lovely dramatic rhinestone pin or clip? And luxury is the name for the gorgeous new clips that are available today . . . They are designed to go with the hand cut rhinestones in the necklaces and bracelets, that make My Lady feel so sophisticated . . . almost diamond-like, but being frankly fake, are much more casual to wear. But there again, is a field of its own and so jewels, accessories and the fakes of the fad are something in the offing, next week, who knows.

Floor Coverings Feature One Color In Shaded Tones

New floor covering showings at the Western Winter Market in San Francisco offered a wider selection in lower price brackets than ever before. Design in weave patterns in sculptured effects were predominant featuring one color in graduating tones. Leaf, plume and scroll designs were most evident although there were several outstanding stylized florals in soft tones. Textures tended toward smoother surfaces with more friezes than large loops and shags shown. Important textured weaves were the new homespun or hand woven effects for provincial decoration.

With hard surface manufacturing firmly back on full production, a greater variety of patterns were offered than in many years, plus new construction features. Outstanding designs were shown in embossed inlaid linoleum in all over and border patterns. Softer colors and decorator shades were featured in all lines. Styles were designed for use throughout the house from brick and tile patterns for hall or patio to pastel floral clusters on soft tone grounds for the bedroom. Also of interest were new printed rugs simulating tone on tone sculptured designs of soft surface fabrics. Cork tile, asphalt and plastic tiles introduced a wide selection of new colors.

Waxing Blinds Helps Keep Them Dust Free

You'll fin it easy to keep Venetian blinds dust-free if you wax them when they're new. Then dust them regularly with a brush, cloth or vacuum attachment.

BEJEWELED SPLENDOR from Castlecliff's "Maharanee" collection is this baroque costume pearl necklace and bracelet, each clasped with an asymmetric cluster of Baroque pearls and uncut stones in ruby, amethyst, emerald, amber or sapphire colorings. Usually, the pearl is white or gunmetal and surrounding stones—occasionally separated by rhinestones—combine three or four color groupings. The pin matches the clasps and the earrings give soft emphasis to the cabochoned stones.
